Product News:

Broccoli & Cauliflower - Local supplies are very limited and expensive this week due to the Thanksgiving pull & cold weather. New crops from Central California & Arizona are starting up for the winter season.

Lettuce - Iceberg Lettuce & Little Gem have started in Arizona and are in stock. Prices are way up from the last of the locally grown products. Prices are not expected to drop until after Thanksgiving.

Petite & Jumbo Romaine Hearts are still locally grown this week but we hope to be able to pull from Arizona later in the week. Prices are still on the high side and demand is strong.

County Line has started their winter program from Thermal with BMX, Super Baby Lettuce, Spigarello, Red Frill, Baby Beets, Chards, Kales, Bloomsdale Spinach & Radishes. More items will be available during the next few weeks. Deliveries are limited to once a week on Friday's until their volume picks up and they can send more than one truck a week. We will have to fill in with locally grown BMX from Faurot Ranch as needed.

Berries – Pretty much on the last leg of Salinas/Watsonville season; Strawberries and Blackberries are still going but very limited, Raspberries are Driscoll from MX and Blueberries from PE and CL just starting up.

Black Mission Figs – Season is Done.

Okra - CA Okra is finishing up. Price is going up; will hopefully see some relief this week with import product expected in. Will be Honduras or Nicaragua
